Re: Lask v Rhee-Karn et al, Docket 24-cv-02666.

Your Honor:

Notwithstanding this Court's Order, or Mr. Dudleson's claim he needed the additional time to file a Reply based on the volume of the Defendants' Response to the Plaintiff's Motion to Remand (Dkt 14), or Ms. Lask's claim to this Court of her incapacity to communicate in the Rhee-Karn matter (SDNY 15-cv-09946), the Reply was submitted late by Ms. Lask on June 7, 2024. (Dkts. 19-23).

Based on the late filing and the distortions concerning the law as argued, together with the fabrication and factual claims, the Defendants are seeking the Court to strike Ms. Lask's filing. (DE23). Alternatively, the Defendants would request they be granted 7 days to June 14, 2024, to Sur-Reply. The arguments lack a cogent or accurate recital of both the law and the facts. They stray from the original motion and are simply intended to be inflammatory in the manner presented and done so for the purpose of later pointing to the lack of denial or response by the Defendant's. Moreover, they are additional proof of her stalking counsel and my Firm's clients since 2011.

Respectfully,

Douglas R. Dollinger, Esq.

DRD/mg ECF Filed.

The request to file a sur-reply and to strike is denied. The Court has sufficient information on which to resolve the motion for remand. Both Mr. Dollinger and Ms. Lask are expending unnecessary space and time on assailing the other's character and bringing in extraneous matter.
